DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 6-9-2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

1. The applicant argues that the prior art does not reject the claims. The examiner disagrees for several reasons, a) Cudak teaches reducing the data rate of a user's channel. This can be interpreted in several ways, eg. there is a correlation between data rate and RF Spectrum in that the lower the data rate used, the less RF Spectrum is technically required (eg. a user does not require same amount of bandwidth to send a low rate signal as it does a high rate signal). 2) Mushkin specifically discloses concepts in his invention which do not teach away (as argued):

"..According to an aspect of some embodiments of the invention, the frequency of the operational link is changed without an interruption of the link or at least without an interruption of the transfer of payload data and without establishing a parallel auxiliary link. An aspect of some embodiments of the invention is that it is possible to implement variable rate FDMA without make-before-break, with frequency shifting only, without any frequency jumps. According to an aspect of some embodiments of the invention, the data rate, modulation rate and/or symbol timing, i.e., the bandwidth, are changed without interruption of the link or at least without an interruption of the transfer of payload data and without establishing a parallel auxiliary link. According to an aspect of some embodiments of the invention, both the frequency and the bandwidth are changed without interruption of the link or at least without an interruption of the transfer of payload data and without establishing a parallel auxiliary link...." (C4, L42-62)

Since the examiner must broadly interpret all claims put before him in a reasonable manner, it is his position that these references can be combined and interpreted (by one skilled in the art) as reading on the claims based upon the manner in which they are currently written.

2. The applicant is invited to amend the claims such that they incorporate the novel material as pointed out by the examiner, which may provide a more favorable outcome.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
